

Engaging a dialogue on labour issues

Is there room for a dialogue between catholicism and Islam on social ethics and labour issues ?

I. Where does the question come from?

II. Are we bound by the human rights Framework

- a. ILO's Philadelphia Declaration of 1944
- b. ILO Convention on discrimination 1958

III. New questions on the table

- c. After globalisation, a search for values
- d. Solidarity
- e. The meaning of work

IV. Practical questions to be addressed

References :

—Projet, Le catholicisme social européen, <http://www.ceras-projet.com/index.php?id=2616>

—Pierre Martinot-Lagarde, « Exclusion, immigration, mondialisation », La fabrique de la doctrine sociale, Ceras - revue Projet. URL : <http://www.ceras-projet.com/index.php?id=2554>.

—Madeleine Albright, Dieu, l'Amérique et le monde, Ed. Salvator, 380 p., 20 euros.

—Juan Somavia, 60th anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights - (pdf 72 KB)

Vatican, 10 December 2008.

<http://www.ilo.org/public/english/bureau/dgo/speeches/somavia/2008/vatican.pdf>